

Gregory Giangrande

Executive Vice President and Chief Human Resources Officer

Gregory Giangrande is Executive Vice President and Chief Human Resources Officer for Time Inc. He joined the Company in April, 2012 and oversees all aspects of Human Resources, including talent recruitment and development, compensation and benefits.

Giangrande most recently served as Executive Vice President and Chief Human Resources Officer for Dow Jones & Company/The Wall Street Journal. During his four-year tenure at Dow Jones, he was responsible for talent development, employee engagement, labor relations, compensation, benefits and all aspects of the Company's human resources efforts worldwide.

Previously, Giangrande was Senior Vice President and Chief Human Resources Officer at HarperCollins publishing group for nine years. He also held leadership positions in human resources at Hearst, Conde Nast and Random House.

He received his undergraduate and graduate degrees in journalism and communications from New York University (NYU). He taught communications at NYU for years and also worked in television news production. Giangrande lives in Manhattan with his wife and two children.